Financial Aid

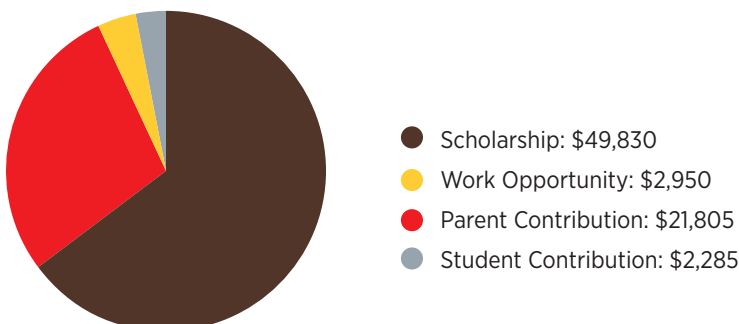

We strongly believe that a Brown education should be accessible to all regardless of their economic background. Brown has a need-blind admission policy for all U.S. citizens and permanent residents.

Need-blind admission simply means that a student's ability to pay for a Brown education will not be a factor in the admission decision. Its basic premise is that a family's financial circumstances will not be considered when reviewing a student's application for undergraduate admission. This policy has allowed us to further open our doors to students who had previously thought an Ivy League education was out of reach. Brown is committed to maintaining a student body that is strong in intellect, diverse in character and driven to achieve. Any student who possesses these qualities should have the opportunity to study at Brown. The need-blind policy further underscores this commitment.

Applying to BROWN

Note to Counselors

- Early Decision: We are a single-choice Early Decision binding program. A student admitted Early Decision to Brown is committed to attend, and must withdraw all Regular Decision applications, and any applications to non-binding Early programs. We make the majority of our admission offers during Regular Decision, with Early Decision acceptances representing one quarter of the first-year admission offers we make each year.
- Video Portfolio or Alumni Interview: The video portfolio and alumni interview each provide a wonderful opportunity for students. Once logged into the Common Application they can opt-in for a video portfolio or alumni interview. The video portfolio and alumni interview are treated equally; we do not prefer one over the other. When submitting a video portfolio, Early Decision deadline is November 8 and Regular Decision deadline is January 8.
- Course Selection is an individual process, and we cannot advise on a student's specific schedule. However, we encourage students to take the most challenging curriculum available to them in the five major subject areas. Students should challenge themselves academically and we are fully aware that every context and every curriculum is different.
- Counselor Reports: In the interest of your time and ours, we strongly recommend that you limit your letter of recommendation to one page. We would be grateful if you passed this advice to the teachers as well.
- Fee Waiver: As part of our commitment to make a Brown University education accessible to students from all income backgrounds, Brown is making automatic application fee waivers available to more students. Brown will automatically waive the application fee for any student who is enrolled in or eligible for the Federal Free or Reduced Price Lunch program (FRPL), as well as students who are enrolled in federal, state or local programs that aid students from low-income families (e.g., TRIO Programs). Additionally, Brown will automatically waive the application fee for any student who belongs to a Community Based Organization or College Access Organization that promotes educational opportunity for low-income students. Brown will continue to honor fee-waiver request forms from the College Board, NACAC and school counselors.
- Slate.org is a free tool for school counselors, independent counselors and community-based organizations to ease the burden of scheduling visits with college representatives, maintain awareness of where students reside in the admissions process and conveniently and securely submit materials directly to institutions.

Special Programs for Prospective Applicants

Students applying to these programs must select the appropriate degree option when completing our member page in the Common Application.

Program in Liberal Medical Education: eight-year program

PLME offers a unique opportunity to join undergraduate and professional studies in medicine in an eight-year program. By combining the Open Curriculum concept of Brown (the College) and the competency-based curriculum concept of the Warren Alpert Medical School, the PLME encourages students of medicine to pursue in depth their interests in the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences even as they prepare for their careers as physicians. For more information, please visit: brown.edu/go/plme
Students interested in the program may apply to PLME during Early Decision or Regular Decision.

Brown|RISD: five-year program

The Dual Degree Program draws on the complementary strengths of Brown University and the Rhode Island School of Design (RISD) to provide students with a range of opportunities to develop and integrate academic and artistic work. The program is five years in length. Students may receive a bachelor of arts (A.B.) degree from Brown and a bachelor of fine arts (BFA) degree from RISD. For more information, please visit: risd.brown.edu

Students admitted to the program will be notified during Regular Decision.

Required Standardized Testing

(CEEB Code 3094; ACT Code 3800)

Applicants can satisfy our requirements with either the SAT (essay section optional) or the ACT (writing section optional). We recommend, but do not require, two SAT Subject Tests. If applying to the Program in Liberal Medical Education, we strongly recommend one test in either biology, chemistry or physics. If you attend secondary school in the U.S, self-report test results on the Common Application or send test results directly to Brown. If you attend secondary school outside the U.S., self-report test results and have official test results sent to Brown. Admitted students who enroll at Brown will need to submit test results by June 1.

Students may use the College Board's Score Choice option, but this may delay receipt of scores. Brown should receive at least one set of scores, self-reported or official, by appropriate application deadlines.

+ If you wish to email us, our email convention is: first name_last name@brown.edu

+ While individual admission officers have responsibility for traveling to specific geographic regions, each application is reviewed by a team of admission officers. In this way a variety of perspectives are brought to bear during the selection process. While we welcome you to contact any member of our staff, admission officers travel extensively in the fall and spring so they may be delayed in replying to your inquiries. An admission officer is available every day, by phone or email; should you have questions and inquiries you may phone +1 401-863-2378 or email admission@brown.edu.
